

Albert's sewing a shirt to go with Celie's trousers, represents a new kind of gender harmony.

Walker suggests men must become more feminised and more appreciative and accepting of women's ideas in order for the sexes to live peacefully.